Virginia Commission Will Contest Attempt to Go Into Case Again After It Is Closed.

The State of West Virginia, through Assistant Attorney-General Brown, served notice yesterday on Attorney-General John Garland Pollard that John Calvin Cutler, of Norge, North-western Medical College, Chicago, 1899. Richard L. DeSaussure, of Mine Run, George Washington University, 1913. T. B. Ely, of Jonesville, Medical Col-lege of Virginia, 1912. John Carl Eckhardt, of Petersburg, Control Washington University, 1913. United States Supreme Court on March, motion to reopen the entire case on litigation, which the Supreme Court decided in favor of Virginia in March, 1911. Mr. Brown was here from Charleston yesterday to serve the papers on the legal department of Virginia. The motion to reopen the entire case on the ground of after-discovered evidence will be bitterly contested by Virginia. The filing of the motion is exactly what has been expected by the Virginia bebt Commissioners since the breaking off of negotiations between the two States at the recent conference in Washington. At that time the Virginia commissioners refused to entertain the compromise offer of a settlement of the $7,182,706.46 judgment for $2,300,000, advanced by the West Virginia commissioners as an equitable adjustment of the $7,182,706.46 judgment for $2,300,000, advanced by the West Virginia's portion of the public debt of Virginia at the time of the separation of the Wo States in 1883 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1883 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1883 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1883 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1883 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1883 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1883 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1883 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1883 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1883 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1883 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1882 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1882 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1882 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1882 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1882 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1882 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1882 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1882 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1882 at $7,182,706.45 judgment for the two States in 1882 at $7,182,706.45 judgment

Letters of explanation passed yester-day between former State Senator George B. Keezell and Aubrey G. Weav-er, chairman of the House Finance Committee. Through the intervention Committee. Through the intervention of a mutual friend, they have agreed to bury the hatchet. It appears that Mr. Keezell based his letter to Speaker Cox on a report of Mr. Weaver's remarks published in the Harrisonburg paper. Mr. Weaver denies having made the statement quoted, and not one of the four Richmond papers, all four of which mention the which mention the incident, report it in the form quoted by Senator Keezell from the Harrisonburg paper. ### CITY WINS FIVE OF ITS CASES ON APPEAL

The case of the City of Richmond against Thompson's heirs, brought up from the Hustings Court, was decided against the city. It involved questions of the city's rights in condemnation proceedings.

Cannot Force Settlement.

Cannot Force Settlement.

The case of Thomas & Cross against Brown established a principle of great interest to contractors and builders and material supply men. In this case Thomas & Cross had a balance due of $6,450,54 for building several brick houses for Brown, and in the settlement Brown refused to pay then any amount other than $6,000, and informed Thomas & Cross that they could take this in full payment or else take a mechanic's lien on the houses or suchim. Thomas & Cross, contractors, had spent a large amount of money in building these houses, and needed the money to meet their pay rolls, and the court held that Brown, having these contractor: in his power in this manner, could not make use of it to force a settlement on his own terms, and although Thomas & Cross had settled for $6,000, the court required Brown to pay the balance of $450.54 due on the contract price of the houses. This decision will prevent contractors from being required to receive anything than the full amount of the contract price of the houses. This decision is the court rendered the following opinions:
